Parents lead protest of classes at college

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Angry Romulus parents, who are frightened about having their junior high school children attending classes half a day at the Wayne County Community College Western Campus next fall, are soliciting signatures to prevent the move.

Barbara Bittenbender and Judy Maskell, parents of children who will become seventh-grade students next fall, said they are extremely opposed to busing 300 seventh-grade students to the college for a morning session and another 300 eighth-grade students in the afternoon.

Bittenbender complained that she first learned of the plan to transport the children to WCCC via the newspaper rather than an official communication from the school district.

When they along with about 200 other parents took the bus ride from the junior high school to WCCC April 14th the time elapsed was 25 minutes. That along with other time elements will make for a longer school day, they complained, and several times during the transportation period the children could be without security officers.

"Romulus School Superintendent Dr. William Bedell could not answer a lot of our questions and that confuses and scares us, Bittenbender said. "We never got a satisfactory answer as to where the emergency cards would be kept."

"If a child became sick during the school day, we wouldn't know if the information would be available so school authorities could contact us in a timely manner," she said.

Both mothers complained that they were upset also that the students might be forced to wear tags bearing their names and photos. "That is an open opportunity for them to be harassed by college students," Bittenbender said.

"Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) officers keep warning us not to label our children when they leave the house for the same reasons," she said.

Maskell said her 12-year-old daughter has a very mature figure and she doesn't even want to travel to WCCC.

Maskell said she is opposed to the limited security provisions, the so-called buddy system they will be asked to use when they go to the restroom and the fact they were ignored when they raised their hands to ask questions at the parents meeting.

Vote due on 'school of choice'

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Do voters in Romulus want to pay to bus students to classes located in schools other than their neighborhood schools?

On June 8, local voters will be asked that question in addition to selecting two of the five school board candidates to serve on the school board.

According to Art McPharlin, administrative assistant to Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell, "The state school aid act required every school district in the state to form a citizens committee to recommend to the board of education a plan for a school of choice." The plan focuses on those students, whose parents prefer to have them attend alternative schools in their district.

The Romulus committee met four times with parent groups and received information on the issue from them.

The committee made the following recommendation. If the school of choice plan is approved by the voters and there is room available in the requested schools, the students in the listed areas could attend the following alternate schools:

- Wick School area students could go to Cory School.
- Cory School area students could go to Wick School.
- Hale Creek School area students could go to Barth School.
- Barth School area students could go to Merriman School.

- Merriman School area students could go to Barth School.

If the voters reject the schools of choice plan, McPharlin said, a child may still go to another school if space is available, but the parent must provide the transportation.

Candidate hits purchase of fax units

(This is the first of five articles highlighting backgrounds of local school board candidates and the issues they wish to raise. Future stories will appear in upcoming editions of The Romulus Roman.)

Charging that the recent purchase of fax machines for Romulus Community School Board members, "in these difficult times...is very irresponsible," school board candidate Donna Lindquist-Capron kicked off her campaign for one of two school board seats this week.

Lindquist-Capron also struck out at what she believes are unnecessary purchases and expenditures made by the board as a display of "insensitivity" to the economic needs of the community.

She said she will explain fully her stance on such purchases and expenditures in coming weeks.

The former Illinois resident, who moved to Romulus in August 1991, said if elected to one of the two board seats this June, she would not participate in and will greatly discourage misdirected expenditures.

In addition, Lindquist-Capron said she feels the three key issues that need attention are resolving the teacher contract issue, getting a handle on school board expenses and widening the range of viewpoints on the school board.

"The makeup of the board in no way accurately represents its constituency," she said.

Having two children in the school district will make her more conscious of decisions she would make, as she would then have to live personally with her own decisions.

Lindquist-Capron also complained about the lack of discussion by board members even when there wasn't even a unanimous vote.

Before taking out petitions for the school board race, she and her husband scoured months of official minutes of school board meetings.

Because of the complexity of the issues and the past record of poor voter turnouts for school board elections, Lindquist-Capron is asking that at least two or three candidates nights be scheduled to give the public a great deal of exposure to the candidates and the issues.

She faces incumbents Kenneth Berlin and Pat Patterson and challengers Debra Hoffman and Pauline Calhoun in the June 8 election.

Lindquist-Capron, 34, who currently lists her occupation as a homemaker, is the wife of David Capron. They are the parents of three children: Melissa, 12; Eric, 10; and Harrison, 7 months.

She has earned an associates degree in Business Administration at Wright College in Illinois and she has an extensive background in accounting and in computer hardware and software.

She feels she is highly qualified to seek a school board seat here because of her extensive career in accounting and computer work.

Lindquist-Capron said she worked for a Chicago law firm and handled a monthly budget totaling more than $350,000. In addition, she also played a major role in the selection and implementation of the computer automation system installed at the firm and taught and designed computer aided instruction classes for children at the City Colleges of Chicago.

She thinks she could add to the software program currently used in the school district.

"I would like to be a catalyst for greater parental involvement," she said.

Lindquist-Capron said she commends the district work with the below average student—but feels that it does not deal adequately with the above average student (the group she calls Romulus' ace in the hole).

"These gifted and above average students are allowed to get bored and lazy, while teachers work hard with the others," she charges.

GM defends building plant in Mexico

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

In response to a letter he received from Congressman William D. Ford and Sen. Don Riegle, General Motors Chairman Robert Stempel defended the construction of a new $400 million dollar plant the company wants to build in Mexico.

"Your letter raised questions about our plans to invest in Mexico," Stempel said in a letter to Ford. "GM de Mexico has been number one in commercial truck sales for five consecutive years, and the Mexican market is growing."

"In 1991, GM de Mexico produced 66,850 commercial vehicles for the Mexican market," Stempel said in the letter. "In order to maintain our competitiveness in that market while being responsive to the country's serious concern about Mexico City's environmental problems, GM made the decision to relocate the facility outside the Mexico City valley."

Neither Ford nor Riegle had prepared a response to Stempel's letter by Tuesday morning. Ford was expected to respond later this week, according to Sally Budd, a Ford aid at his office in Washington D.C.

Ford and Riegle sent a letter to Stempel more than two weeks ago urging him to consider moving the Mexican truck plant production to the Arlington, Texas manufacturing plant and then consolidate the present Arlington plant production at the existing Willow Run Assembly Plant.

"Given the serious and widely publicized financial pressures now affecting GM we would like to urge GM to give serious consideration to an alternative plan that can avoid this $400 million investment in a new Mexico plant," Riegle and Ford wrote in their letter to Stempel.

Ford and Riegle also indicated that this move could help strengthen the present condition of the economy.

"A decision of this kind would add strength to the American economy—and avoid the severe damage to the Michigan economy posed by the proposed Willow Run plant closing and the other announced Michigan GM reductions," they said in their letter.

Stempel defended the GM commitment to Michigan.

"Michigan is our world headquarters," Stempel said in his letter. "The majority of our technical and scientific resources are in Michigan. GM's employment in Michigan in 1991 averaged 165,000 with payrolls of about $7.8 billion."

"In addition, our subsidiaries—EDS, GMAC and Saturn—employed an average of 19,000 with payrolls of $726 million," Stempel said in his letter. "Since 1980, GM has invested more than $27 billion in Michigan, an average of more than $2 billion a year."

"In the last two years, despite the difficult times, we have invested more than $3.5 billion here," he said. "Surely this demonstrates our commitment to our home state."

Stempel also stated that the decision to build a new plant in Mexico is due in part to the existing Mexico facility being located in a congested area and is limited in size and technology.

The decision was compounded by the trade difficulties the U.S. faces with Mexico.

"Under current Mexican law and trade balancing requirements, we would be unable to export from the United States to Mexico and the volume of vehicles currently produced by the Mexico City plant," Stempel said. "Hence our decision to build a replacement facility outside of Mexico City. All the investment funds were generated in Mexico by GM de Mexico. The trucks produced in Mexico are not exported to the United States."

William D. Ford

Teacher contract session awaited

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The chance of a settled teachers contract in the Romulus school district before the end of the school year will be determined by what occurs at a negotiation session planned for next month.

The teachers have been working without a contract for almost four years.

A mediator has been added to recent negotiating sessions and reportedly two major issues remain on the table. Those include:

- A new insurance program that reportedly could save the district thousands of dollars.

- Adjustments to the school calendar to accommodate the new technology program approved by voters in a past referendum.

Teachers in the district have been picketing the school administration building prior to recent school board meetings.

One or more teachers have asked that negotiations continue moving forward to eliminate a growing wall between educators and the administration.

The issue is expected to remain popular throughout the upcoming school board race.

Dr. Terrel LeCesne, assistant school superintendent for administrative services, said, "A glimmer of hope arose at the last negotiation session that showed both sides moving toward agreement."

"As long as we keep talking...the chance of settling the contract before the school year is over grows," he said.

In addition to the two major issues, LeCesne said, numerous language issues remain unsettled.

Romulus budget hearing slated

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The public will be given a chance to voice their views on the upcoming $10,084,000 city budget at 7 p.m. May 11.

Assistant Finance Director Debra Hoffman said, "We feel we have chopped all we can from the upcoming budget—cutting more than $1.4 million from various city department requests."

Romulus city council members will begin public budget workshops at 5:30 p.m. April 27 and at 6 p.m. May 4.

Hoffman expects little change in the 1992-93 proposed budget from the council, but the budget will be examined line item by line item during those two sessions.

About one third of the budget is composed of police department costs, but veteran Councilman Jimmie Raspberry defends those costs. "Despite the high cost, Police Chief Fred Dansby has a record of keeping the crime rate low...and we can't fault that," Raspberry said.

He also said that since Donovan McGuire has taken control of the finance department there have been few council outcries at budget setting time. "He provides us with a professional statistical base to work from and gives a quality presentation," Raspberry said.

Hoffman said the recent hike in various outdated city license fees won't have an impact on city finances for at least six to nine months.

Council members were informed this winter by City Clerk Linda Choate that many of the city license fees were as low as $5, while the costs to investigate and prepare a license most times went above $100.

Choate and her staff examined all city license and bonding levels for various items (such as apartment rentals and meat and produce markets) and compared them with surrounding cities.

The license and bonding rates were hiked April 13 and will be felt as various licenses expire and need to be renewed.

The biggest cuts in the budget requests were from the police department, trimmed $359,000; the city election unit, slashed $200,118; the buildings and grounds office, cut $183,274 and the recreation department, scaled back by $93,484.

The election unit cut was listed basically as the postponement of purchasing new ballot equipment, while most of the others dealt with not filling vacant personnel positions (such as a deputy police chief), delaying construction repair jobs and not updating city vehicles.

McGuire has recommended that the city keep a $500,000 contingency fund, so that Romulus bond rating is not impacted negatively.

Officials confirm some racial problems

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Feelings of racial separation expressed in Detroit media are not carrying over into the Romulus area at this time, Romulus school and city officials reported this week.

The growing feeling of racial unity pressed in the 1960's and 1970's by many Blacks and whites was interrupted when conservative President Ronald Reagan was elected in 1980, most of the officials stated.

Recent published accounts of racial disharmony at Olivet College and speeches by Black Muslim leader Louis Farrakhan at Michigan State University in East Lansing have received strong press coverage in recent weeks.

Economic hardships faced by both Blacks and whites may raise some tempers within local schools and neighborhoods, but to date they are not creating alarm.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry (who served as a Romulus police officer back in the late 1950's) said he has lived in Romulus for 48-49 years and feels that even though the city has only two Black police officers at the present time, "the racial environment is very fair."

"Once police could strong-arm people, but protests and lawsuits have curtailed much of that action here, Raspberry said.

"I'm keeping my fingers crossed and I keep knocking on wood, but I feel in most cases a Black gets a fair hearing with local police and judges here today, he continued.

"I haven't heard or seen any racial animosity here lately," Raspberry said. "We have various low level dope people here" (compared to Detroit where many drug kingpins are battling it out and small children are falling victims.)

"We have to give a lot of the credit to our current Police Chief (Fred Dansby). He told me in a private conversation recently that he plans to place police officers on foot in some of Romulus' major crime spots soon."

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Dr. Terry LeCesne said while 30 percent of the Romulus Senior High School students are Black, there are little or no racial problems there.

"Most of the conflicts we have are of girl friend (or boy friend) variety or stem from a neighborhood party. Thus we worry about long weekend absences or vacations, where outside problems can spill over into the school time," he said.

But at least in recent months, Dr. LeCesne said, "most of the physical problems have been whites against whites and Blacks against Blacks."

But, LeCesne warns, "we cannot be immune to what is happening nationally."

LeCesne said the national, regional and local press has a great responsibility not to enflame the issue, particularly if it grows this summer.

Parents

The two woman have collected more than 100 signatures from parents, who are opposed to the busing plan.

"Our children will be asked to become acquainted with a new school building and locker system and then be shipped out of that same school for half a day. It doesn't make sense," Bittenbender said.

The mothers plan to attend the April 27 Romulus City Council meeting and seek the support of the council members.

"We already have the support of Councilman Russell Lambert," she said. "And now we are going to try to get the rest of the council to support our opposition."

They also plan to picket the May 5 and May 11 school board meetings and to ask school board members to reject the WCCC plan. "We are asking that they use either the Mount Pleasant School or some other alternate site for the next four years," she said.

Parents wishing to add their names to the petition can meet them at any of the council or school meetings.

Local widow's story praised

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Sobbing widows and other lonely women called the Romulus Senior Center following the recent publication of a story in The Romulus Roman and expressed great appreciation for the success of Marge Krause.

Marilyn Masters, center director, revealed that the women appreciated the candor and thoughtful advice given by Krause, who lost her husband, Joseph, almost a year ago in a tragic boating accident.

One Romulus taxpayer currently living in Nashville, Tenn. even wrote to express her views on Krause's efforts to fight loneliness and depression by becoming active with the local senior center, Masters said.

The Tennessee resident said she too eats breakfast in restaurants to escape the loneliness.

"We even received a call from a widows support group in Taylor asking her to join them an upcoming meeting," Masters revealed.

The story of Krause's overcoming a problem so common to widows today really jump started a lot of lives, she said.

Krause had agreed to do the story, Masters said. "I was hoping that it could help at least one person."

The response has been overwhelming. "Marge said if anyone needs to talk to her one-on-one they should call the senior center (942-6852) and leave a message," Masters said. "She then promises to call the person back."

Spring begins tornado season

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

While balmy, spring breezes are welcomed by winter-weary Michigan residents, the arrival of spring also heralds the start of the tornado season.

"At the same time that we are welcoming spring, we must be prepared for the tornado season and take precautions to minimize the possible risks associated with tornadoes," said Van Buren Township Public Safety Director Mark Perkins.

Mark Perkins

"Residents should be aware that most tornadoes occur in the months of April through July. Most tornadoes occur during the mid-afternoon or early-evening period, but they can occur at any time of the day," Perkins said.

"Twenty-five tornadoes were reported in Wayne County between 1950 and 1991. Only Lenawee County with 27 tornado reports and Genesee County with 26 have recorded higher totals in the state," Perkins said. "A tornado is nature's most violent storm. Severe damage can be done by winds of 100 to 200 miles per hour and by the hail that often accompanies it. Injuries and deaths also can result from flying debris resulting from the high winds."

The public safety director said residents should become aware of the differences between a tornado watch and a tornado warning and the steps to take when one or the other is announced.

"When a tornado watch is announced, it means that conditions are right for the development of a tornado. At this time, residents should stay tuned to a local radio or television station for further announcements and gather a first aid kit, flashlight and a portable radio plus additional batteries," Perkins said. "A tornado warning means that a tornado has actually been sighted nearby. When a warning is announced, residents should seek shelter immediately either in a basement or in a small room or closet on the lowest floor."

Tornadoes generally develop from severe thunderstorms, according to the Michigan Committee for Severe Weather Awareness. Twisters are more likely to occur when there is unseasonably warm and humid air on the surface of the earth and cold air at middle atmospheric levels and strong upper-level jet stream winds.

In 1991, 29 tornadoes which caused damages of approximately $51 million were reported in Michigan, according to the MCSWA.

Public safety officials recommend the following safety tips:

- Have emergency supplies on hand during tornado season.
- Keep a battery-operated radio, a flashlight and a supply of fresh batteries in a convenient place.
- Know the location of designated shelter areas in public facilities such as schools, public buildings and shopping centers.
- Be sure everyone in the household knows in advance where to go and what to do in the event of a tornado warning.
- If a tornado threatens, stay away from doors, windows and outside walls. Residents of mobile homes and drivers of vehicles should go immediately to a nearby shelter.
- After a tornado strikes, inspect property for damage, especially check for gas leaks and electrical problems. Next, secure the property from further damage or theft and stay out off the damaged buildings until they are deemed safe.

Marshmallow storm

Children from communities throughout western Wayne County gathered at Nankin Mills to witness the annual "marshmallow monsoon," sponsored by the Wayne County Parks System. Lauren Halpin is one of the thousands of youngsters who gathered marshmallows which were dropped from a helicopter.

Earth Day observance planned by students

Students of South Middle School observed Earth Day on April 22.

In their preparations, the students discovered the following facts:

- The average person uses seven trees a year, which includes all of the paper, wood and other products made from lumber.
- The weight of the paper used by four people in a year is the same as the weight of a large car.

To aid in preserving trees, the students suggest consider planing a tree, reusing paper when possible and taking a bag to the store instead of bringing a new bag home after each trip.

Camping, crafts capture Cubs' interest

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Camping, hayrides, parties and craft projects capture the interest of the Tiger Cubs at St. Anthony's Church in Belleville.

Jeff Lauth, Nick Robson, Michael Sanders, Daniel Luchi, David Majewski and Chase Varran meet each Wednesday afternoon at the parish hall. Their parents rotate leadership roles each week and introduce a new activity for the group.

Each week they begin their meetings with the Tiger Club Promise: "I promise to love God, my family and my country and to learn about the world."

It's not all work and no play for the youngsters, according to their leaders. Special events and activities are slated throughout the year for the Tiger Cubs.

"Camping and sleeping in a cabin" were the highlights of his first year in the Tiger Cubs, according to Michael.

"We went to the camp in the winter and went sledding,"

Camping and sleeping in a cabin, were the highlights of his first year in the Tiger Cubs.

- Michael Sanders

said Michael. "We had hotdog and chili, too."

Jeff, a two-trophy winner in the Pinewood Derby, named the car contest as his favorite event. He also enjoys soccer. Chase also found the Pinewood Derby to be a lot of fun as well as a lot of work.

For David, the highlight of this Tiger experience was hayride last fall, and Daniel named the Cub Christmas party as his favorite activity.

Nick enjoys learning new things at the weekly Tiger Cubs' meetings, and enjoys participating in sports.

This summer, the Cubs are looking forward to day camp and playing soccer and football.

Rotarians sponsor spaghetti dinner

Between 5 and 7 p.m. April 28, the Belleville Rotary Club will host a spaghetti dinner at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

The cost for adults is $4. Dinners for children ages 3 to 8 will be $3 and those 3 and younger will be served at no charge.

Families are invited to attend the dinner, according to Rotarian Keith Bruder.

A star is born

Wayne Memorial graduate achieves longtime dream career

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

There may never be another actress who can talk as fast as Barbara Streisand with such finesse, however, Wayne Memorial High School graduate Sandy Birch comes pretty close.

Birch, a dedicated actress, has been following her dream to make audiences laugh and cry for more than a decade. Her charismatic personality and willingness to learn from other professional actors provides her with the courage to continue auditioning even when a handful of doors close on job opportunities.

Recently Birch was chosen for one of the lead roles in the new Jeff Daniels comedy play The Tropical Pickle at the Purple Rose Theatre in Chelsea. She was in Canada when her mother, Wayne resident Sharon Popek, learned about the auditions and called her daughter.

"I had just finished a show, and I was in the middle of moving from Toronto to Vancouver," Birch said. "My mom kept sending me clippings and information about the Purple Rose Theatre. My mom cut out an ad for an audition, and I thought, 'Can't resist an audition, I gotta go.'"

Birch was among hundreds of local actors and actresses trying out for the various roles. Four call backs later, she was given the role of Peggy, the wife of a plant manager of a company.

"I was so thrilled I got the part," Birch said. "Jeff Daniels cast me himself. I made him laugh. He was sitting there and kept laughing."

The Tropical Pickle is a fast-paced spoof of office politics and a disastrous dinner party for the new president of the Shankelferd Pickel Co. Bob Lee, plant manager of the company, will do anything to win a promotion and an all-expense paid trip to the Annual Condiment Convention in Miami.

The life of an actress is not an easy one, and Birch began learning this lesson from her junior high school teachers.

"I danced since I was five," Birch said. "When I was at Franklin Junior High School, Adele Price and Andrienne Klemme really helped me with my acting. I owe everything to those two women."

Birch always had a passion for acting, even as a child. "It's an attention thing I'm sure of it," Birch said. "It's probably because I'm the middle child lost in the sauce. My dad will definitely agree with that."

Birch was very upfront about the difficulties of being an actress, and she intends to help others focus on the realities of show business.

"I was contemplating, if I could go back to Central Michigan University and teach actors one class, I would teach a class on what the realities of show business are," Birch said. "I think I'm going to go back to school and maybe get my teaching degree because it is tough between shows."

After Birch graduated from Wayne Memorial in 1979, she attended Central Michigan University. While taking classes at Central, she obtained an apprenticeship at the Star Theatre in Flint.

"It was a place where you did everything, and you learned from the bottom up," Birch said. "You learn respect for people that work behind the scenes. I learned if you're not nice to your crew, somehow the set falls down."

During her apprenticeship, Birch met her husband, a Canadian.

"He was in a mime company with an international company, and I was teaching a workshop at Michigan State University," Birch said. "He was teaching, and I walked into his room one day and that was it. I was on my way to Canada which I thought was Windsor. Four days later, I was in Calgary, Alberta."

Birch, unfortunately, parted ways with her husband which she said was due to the nature of two people in the same business.

"I decided to stay in Canada because I became professional there," Birch said. "The first shows I did were in Calgary, and I became a union pro up there."

Her very first show in Calgary was an Agatha Christie production.

"I played a British girl," Birch said. "The biggest problem that I've had in Canada was my American accent. I put on a British accent, and one day a couple of old ladies came back stage and asked me what part of England I was from. I was like, 'I'm from Motown.'"

Birch has worked alongside some very famous actors and actresses including David Doyle in the Neil Simon production Rumors and Eddie Mekka in the play It Had To Be You.

"My favorite work experiences would have to be working at Expo and the Olympic Arts Festival in Calgary," Birch said.

Birch has made her home in Canada, and as she moves to Vancouver, she hopes to find a serious acting role which will challenge her in a different way.

"I know there is a whole other side of me," Birch said. "I want to do something that has a little more meat."

The Tropical Pickle will be performed May 7 through June 28 at the Purple Rose Theatre, 137 Park Street. For ticket information call 475-5817.

Crop Walk collects $12,000 for needy around the world

Marchers from seven area churches collected $12,000 in donations to alleviate local and world hunger problems. Participating in the 11-mile round-trip Crop Walk from St. Anthony's Church, Belleville, to Community United Methodist Church, Romulus, were 186 walkers from Trinity Episcopal Church, Belleville United Methodist Church, Belleville Presbyterian Church, Faith United Methodist Church, St. Aloysius Church, St. Anthony's and the Community church. Seventy-five percent of the money is distributed through Church World Relief Service programs and 25 percent stays in the community. Of the $12,118 collected in pledges

Seventy-five percent of the money is distributed through Church World Relief Service programs and 25 percent stays in the community.

River boat cruises launched in June

On June 10, the Princess Laura will launch its 11-day season on Belleville Lake. A contract for the riverboat sailings was approved by members of the Van Buren Township Board with J & K Steamboat Line, the company that has provided the lake cruises for the past two years. "We'll have the boat earlier this year than the two previous visits," said Mike Long, recreation director. "The Princess Laura will seat 86 for meal cruises and 112 for general cruises. We believe this size will accommodate our needs very well." Van Buren Township Supervisor David Jacokes noted that the larger riverboat, which arrived in two parts, encountered some problems and donations, $3,000 was donated to four area agencies: Wayne Metro Community Service Agency, Helping Hand of Romulus, St. Vincent de Paul of Belleville and Belleville Emergency Food Closet. The sum was a record for the 10th annual event, coordinated by the Rev. John Hagan of Trinity Church. Last year in Michigan, 30,777 walkers in 119 community walks collected $1,390,379 to lead the nation for the sixth consecutive year. Eighty-three percent of the money go directly to programs which feed the hungry. Among the program aided by Church World Services are: • In Michigan, CWS sent 1,000 full-sized blankets, 150 baby blankets and 64 overcoats to the Cass Community Homeless Drop-in Shelter. • In Honduras, CWS aided people in 80 communities with self-help activities. Emergency needs resulting from flooding were provided with $150,000 in blanket funds, $10,000 for cooking oil and $20,000 for powdered milk. • In Niger, CWS provided $99,557 for wells and gardens which improved irrigation and crops. • In Thailand, CWS aided refugees with $150,000 in blanket funds and $102,000 for the purchase of food and medicine. • In the new Commonwealth of Independent States, 131,000 pounds of wheat were distributed in 10-pound bags and CWS provided a $100,000 grant to the Armenian Apostolic Church for the purchase of seed potatoes for spring planting plus 4,400 pounds of warm clothing. An organization meeting will be staged in late May to plan an Oct. 4 Crop Walk. Individuals and churches are invited to join the seven congregations in the fund-raising event, according to Father Hagan. Information about the Crop Walk is available by calling 699-3361.

Minutes of the Board of Education

SPECIAL MEETING

March 23, 1992

A Special Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, March 23, 1992 at 7:30 p.m. Members present: Jere Dolph, David Peer, Sherry Frazier, Martha Toth, David Fowler, LaVerne Finley and Sharry Budd. Also present were Superintendent James Richendollar, Director of Business Affairs Jack Hosmer, Director of Personnel Raymond Kohr, and Director of Instruction Douglas Brown. The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Dolph. On recommendation of the Personnel Office, motion by David Fowler, supported by David Peer, that: Ada Sugden be hired as a transportation bus aide with a starting date of March 24, 1992. Motion carried unanimously. A request for a trip to Chicago on May 20, 1992 for members of South Middle School's National Junior Honor Society and Student Council was presented to teacher Karen Mida. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Sharry Budd, that the trip be approved as presented. Motion carried unanimously. Bid specifications for the purchase of a new 1992 delivery van and authorization to bid was presented by Jack Hosmer. Bids to be brought to Board on April 13. Motion by David Fowler, supported by LaVerne Finley, that bid specifications be approved and authorization to bid be given as presented. Motion carried unanimously. Adult and Community Education presentation was given by Supervisor William Loyd. Douglas Brown gave a report on the K-12 Thinking and Learning Strategies goals and objectives for the school district. Motion by Martha Toth, supported by David Fowler, that the K-12 Thinking and Learning goals and objectives be adopted as presented. Motion carried unanimously. Mr. Brown was commended for job well done. Bryan Amann, attorney for PAMA Investment Company, presented a resolution for the transfer of 87 acres of vacant land from the Van Buren School District to the Plymouth/Canton School District and an agreement between the Van Buren Public Schools and the PAMA Investment Company. If approved, Wayne County RESA will be petitioned to permanently transfer the 87 acres. Two corrections were made on the documents presented. On the resolution, in the last paragraph, the word "from" to be inserted in place of the word "for" (...Van Buren Public Schools from PAMA...) and on the agreement, in the first paragraph of Section II, a comma be placed between the words "action to" (...School's action, to do the...). Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by David Fowler, that the resolution and agreement be adopted as correction. Motion carried unanimously. In compliance with Section 23a of the Michigan School Aid Act mandating that our district organize a committee and develop an in-district schools of choice program to be submitted to the Board of Education prior to April 1, 1992, the committee presented their schools of choice plan which showed a $327,636 transportation cost to the district. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by David Fowler, that the Schools of Choice plan not be adopted and the issue be put on the ballot in June. Motion carried unanimously. Motion by Jere Dolph, supported by Sherry Frazier, that the special meeting be recessed and the Board go into executive session for the purpose of discussing negotiations strategy. Motion carried unanimously. Special meeting recessed at 9:30 p.m. Motion by Martha Toth, supported by Sherry Frazier, that the executive session be adjourned and return to the special meeting. Motion carried unanimously. Executive session adjourned at 10:40 p.m. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Martha Toth, to extend Superintendent Richendollar's contract for one year and give him the additional 2% salary increase for the 1991-92 school year and a 4% floor for the 1992-93 school year. Motion carried unanimously. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by LaVerne Finley, to place on the agenda for April 27 to review evaluation forms and time lines for superintendent and central office administrators and establish a Board calendar. Motion carried unanimously. Motion by David Fowler, supported by Martha Toth, that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried unanimously. Special meeting adjourned at 11:00 p.m.

Opinion

A matter of life or death

Recently, pollutants were again discovered in the section of the Rouge River which winds through Inkster and subsequently, through nearly all the communities we serve.

This is the second incident of this nature in a very short amount of time, and while the first discovery was a tragedy, this second one is a catastrophe. But, to date, it seems to have been treated with almost a cavalier attitude by those charged and empowered to correct the situation.

Where is the hue and cry? Where is the outrage of those affected by this fouling of a river which meanders through our communities and so close to our homes? Frankly, we do not understand all this calm reasoning in a matter which is so crucial to the health of so many people.

It is true that the city in which this latest pollution was discovered has many other problems—but is there a municipality that does not? True, it is the responsibility of the state Department of Natural Resources to identify the pollutant and attempt to discover the cause of such a threat to the area.

Officials and residents in Inkster are demanding action and answers, but they seem to be remarkably alone in their battle to save the Rouge.

We wonder, where are the individuals who participated in the Rouge Cleanup effort who worked for so many hours pulling debris from the river banks and the water? Where are the activists who have long been fighting the battle to preserve the waters of the Rouge?

We simply do not understand all this quiet.

Was all this environmental concern merely a fad of the moment? Was there no real conviction in this massive effort and these agonizing and back wrenching hours of hard physical labor to clean up this river which is part of the lifeblood of our area?

Will officials in the City of Inkster be left alone to take whatever action possible to ensure that this does not happen again? Will the cause of this pollution be found and can the effects be corrected? While many may think that this is an isolated incident and unremarkable, we suggest that Canton Township, Wayne and Westland pay attention to the actions taken or not taken in this incident.

We urge them to take the strongest measures available to them to see that this situation is corrected and that there is no repetition whatsoever of such a threat to our health and our future.

This truly is a matter of life and death—and of the future of our communities.

No time for goodbye

We feel a bit like Mark Twain in that the rumors of our demise have been somewhat exaggerated.

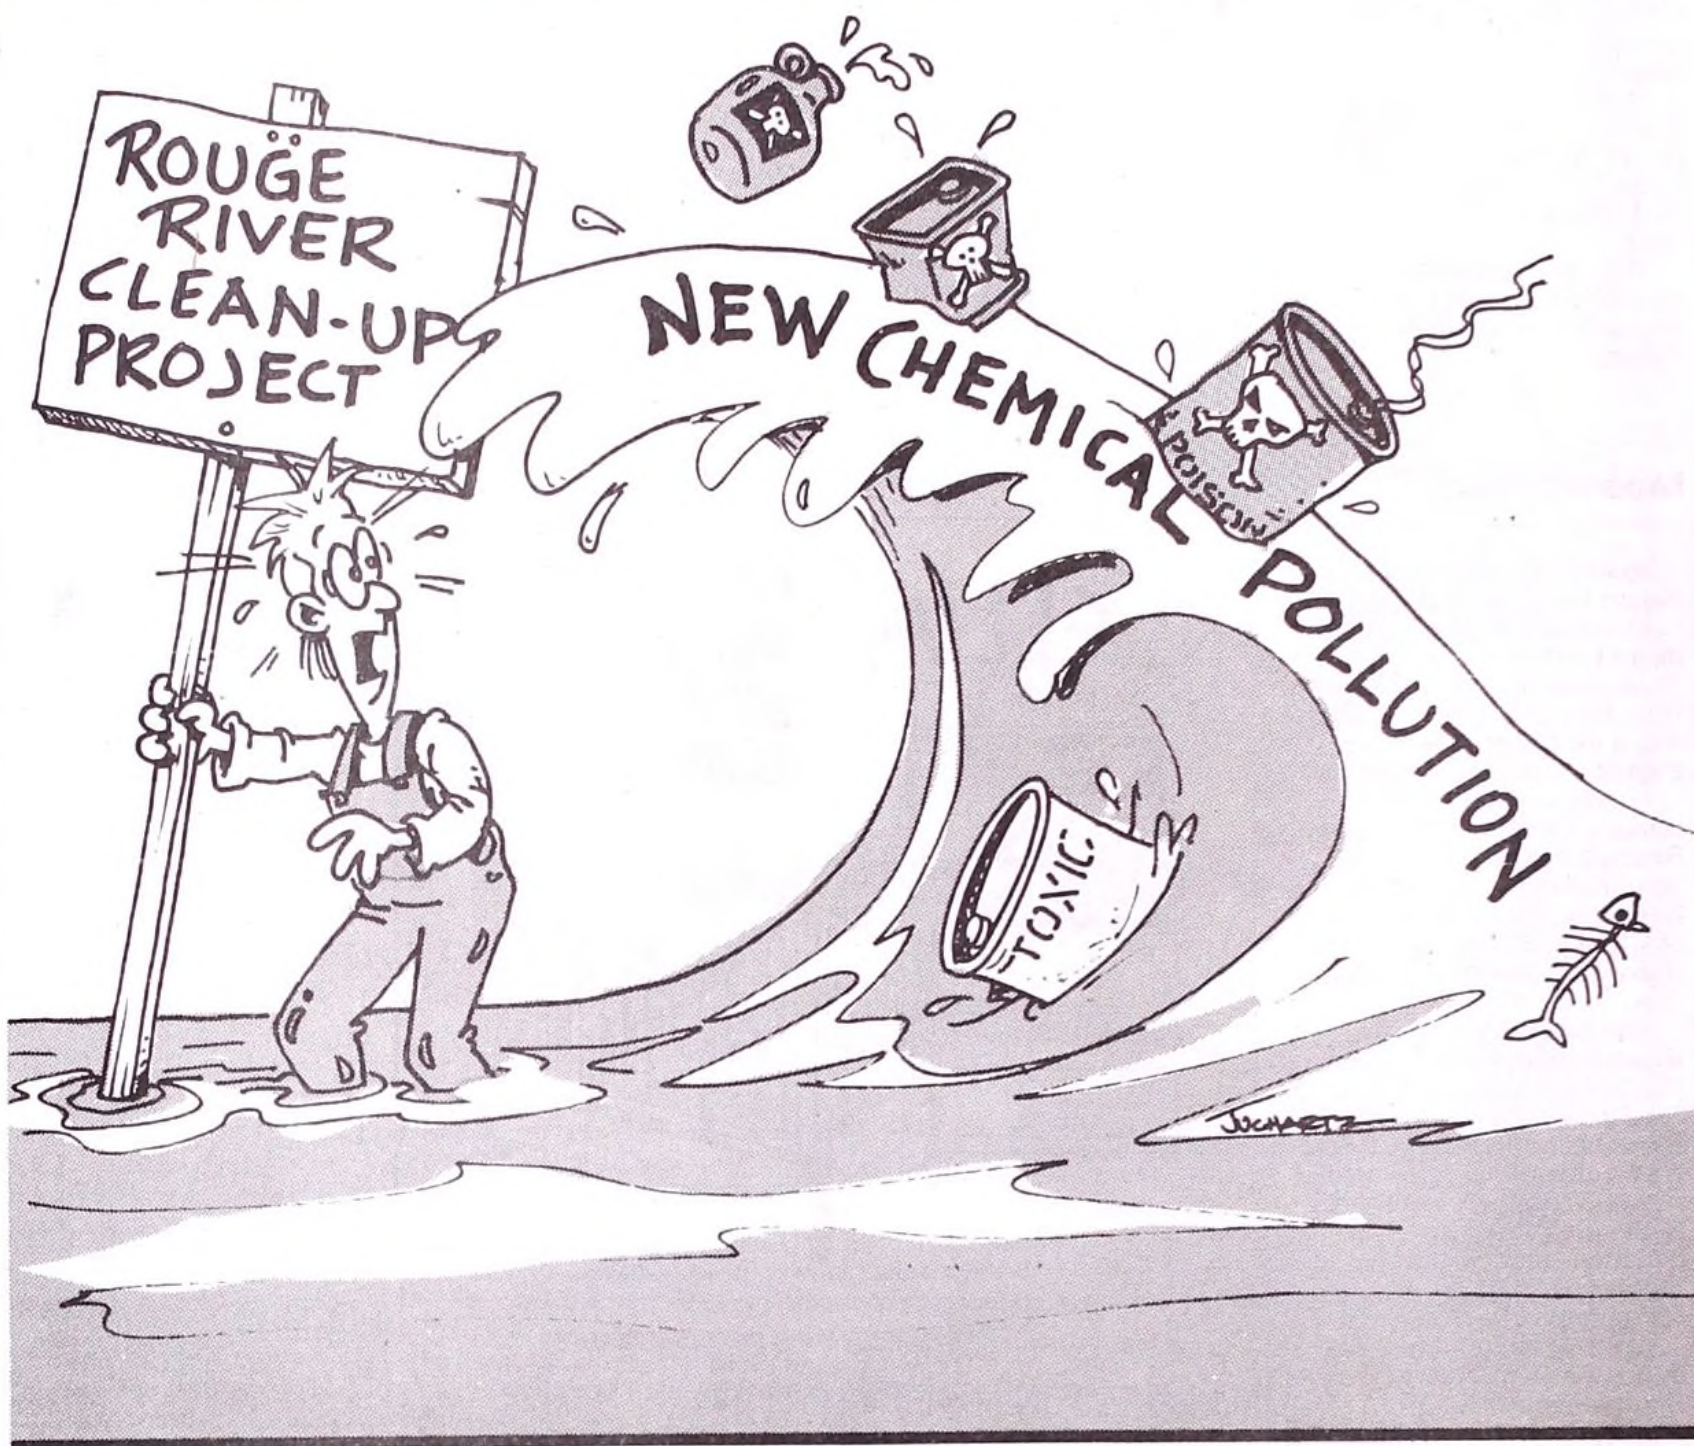

It has come to our attention that somewhere in the City of Romulus a snide bit of gossip entertaining a few less-than-knowlegeable people indicates that we plan on leaving that city and no longer producing The Romulus Roman.

Nothing could be further from our minds. On this, the 100th anniversary of the founding of The Romulus Roman, we have no intention of failing on our responsibility to the community and the nearly 4,000 people who depend on us for local news each week.

We admit, it was a blow to us when the members of the city council chose to designate another newspaper as the legal publication of the city, particularly as we begin our second century of service. We were puzzled at the logic of using a newspaper which distributes only 600 or so copies as opposed to ours for disseminating information about city government to residents.

But we did not and will not be leaving the city. We will continue to serve our readers just as we have done in the past. The only change we are planning is to provide more coverage and more news to more people.

It may have taken us 100 years or so, but we understand our job.

Councilman questions director's performance

To the editor:

Upon reading the letters you published in regard to the bus, I would like to respond and quite possibly shed a different light on the issue.

We continually hear how all the seniors want this new bus. If, as council has been informed, there are 700 members of this tour group, that means less than ten percent of the seniors use this bus. I personally think it's less after talking to some seniors. In addition, this bus is going to serve less than 1 percent of the Westland population. The same people whose tax dollars are being used to buy the bus and maintain it and won't be able to use it! After talking to different seniors, I don't believe they "all" want this bus.

Why is it that we must comply with Federal laws and now we want to bypass the law that deals with access for the handicapped? Why were the handicapped treated the way they were and no one did that to any seniors? Why did we not get bids from companies who make buses that comply with the federal law to begin with? I think the seniors should find these answers out. Right now, they only want to believe what is told to them by the Senior Resource Director.

Some of the letters questioned by politics are involved? Some of the letters also stated they have known Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek a few years and what a wonderful person she is. Well, politics are involved because Sylvia works that way. I've known her a number of years now and if she doesn't get her way, this is what she does. The misinformation, rumors and threats are methods she has used before and is doing it again. No council member started this fiasco, it was Sylvia! These methods of hers may work at the school board unfortunately, but they won't work with the city council. If Sylvia's job performance at the Senior Friendship Center is a reflection of the job she does at the school board, Lord help us all!

I think it would benefit all seniors who are upset about this issue to put aside their petty politics and find out answers to the questions I have raised. It is quite possible there is more information to be gained besides what "your Sylvia" wants you to believe.

Kenneth E. Mehl
Councilman
City of Westland

Senior director's actions criticized

To the editor:

I felt compelled to write. I did not see the caricature of Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek in the March 19-25 issue of the Westland Eagle. Apparently she is again upsetting residents of Westland.

I remember when I was on strike against Eastern and Continental Airlines from March 3, 1989 through January of 1991. I was a member of the International Association of Machinist and Aerospace workers. The pilots and flight attendants (ALPA and T.W.U. respectfully) were also on strike with us. Thirty thousand employees who walked out the door together on March 3, 1989. (We were locked out March 2, 1989).

In the summer of 1989 Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek crossed our picket lines and took the Westland seniors on a trip to Atlantic City on Continental Airlines. As a resident of Westland since before it was a city (1963), I knew who Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek was. I and two other strikers, one a pilot, asked her nicely not to cross our picket line, but support us, and cancel or reschedule the trip on another airline. Many of the seniors also requested a change because we were the aircraft mechanics, pilots, and flight attendants and they were concerned and afraid to fly.

Sylvia told us "tough" and crossed our picket line. (She can't deny it because our union has pictures of her doing so.)

It is my opinion that Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek is of low moral character. She has no conscience and her concern is only for herself. She's a "scab" through and through. I'm sure the other Eastern striker/residents of Westland agree 100 percent with me. Renown author Jack London called the scab "the lowest form of life on earth." I agree with Mr. London. Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek is the lowest form of life on earth.

Group continues effort to stop drunk driving

To the editor:

National Crime Victims Rights Week is held each year to focus the public's attention on the area of victim rights. This year, Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) will join with the National Organization for Victims Assistance (NOVA) and 16 other national victim organizations in sponsoring Crime Victims Rights Week, April 26-May 2. The theme for 1992 is the "Road to Victim Justice."

In Michigan, we are further along this road to victim justice because the Michigan Crime Victims Rights Act was guaranteed with the passage of a constitutional amendment in 1988. But before we get too complacent or congratulatory, let me share with you a recent incident in one of our Michigan courtrooms—a sentencing was being conducted following a double fatal drunk driving crash in which a jury had convicted a drunk driver of manslaughter. The Crime Victims Rights Act provides the opportunity for the victim or their family to make a victim impact statement. In this case, the two widows were interrupted by the judge and told to keep their statements short, and later he referred to their written statements as "junk". The judge also continued his attack by stating that the right to make a victim impact statement was the work of "do-gooders" in the legislature. Fortunately, there are many more Michigan judges and prosecutors who are sensitive to the needs of victims and their families, and those numbers are growing.

Again this year, the American Forest Council and the American Association of Nurses, along with MADD, are donating trees to be planted in remembrance of those victimized in alcohol-related crashes. This will act as a reminder that more lives will blossom and grow as MADD continues to raise the public's commitment to stop drunk driving.

MADD chapters and Community Action Teams throughout Michigan continue to offer support for victims and their families. Our victim advocacy workshops and Victim Impact Panels across the state are growing in number and their impact is on the increase. If you are in need of victim assistance, please call 1-800-323-6233 any weekday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Please voice your support of victims rights and help us to continue on the right road—to end the senseless crime of drinking and driving.

Citizen expresses anger

To the Editor:

I am one of the angry senior citizens referred to in articles in the Westland Eagle. I am angry at the Politicians who have turned what I believe was a generous contribution to the citizens of Westland into an ugly mess—pitting one section of the community against another.

I made a donation to the bus fund as a memorial to my late husband because he drove a bus for a living. I was glad to do so knowing that I might never be able to ride on the bus. All the seniors who have contributed to the bus fund know that lack of money and ill health can prevent them making use of the bus. They also realize the bus will be serving the citizens of Westland long after we are gone.

The Politicians fumbled this deal and they owe us an apology. We will have only one bus to serve the community and every seat counted.

Sincerely,
Kathleen G. McSweeney

Councilwoman thanks newspapers staff

To the Editor:

Many thanks to Margo Dewey and the Wayne Eagle for the excellent coverage of the benefits scheduled past and future for John Laman-tagne and family.

I'm sure that this coverage has helped the fundraising efforts a great deal.

Sincerely,
Donna McEachern

JUST MARRIED

Ferguson-Antieu

Shari Ann Ferguson became the bride of Nathan Jon Antieu during a double-ring ceremony at First United Methodist Church in Belleville Feb. 26, 1992.

Officiating at the ceremony witnessed by 145 guests was the Rev. LaVere Webster. The church was decorated with yellow and white carnations and a rose altar centerpiece with matching floral arrangements on the candelabrum decorated with ribbons and peacock feathers.

Gwenyth Ashe of Belleville played selections on the organ and Paul Smith of Belleville was the soloist at the nuptials.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white satin gown with a lace bodice and long lace sleeves decorated with seed pearls and sequins and accented with satin roses and bows. Her chapel length train featured lace inserts and bows. Her elbow-length veil was held in place with a circle of flowers and pearls.

She carried white and yellow roses with carnations, baby's breath and peacock feathers.

A cousin of the bride, Donna Ferguson of Romeo, acted as maid of honor at the ceremony. She wore a floor-length gown of emerald green taffeta. The bodice of her gown was black, covered with emerald green lace. She carried a nosegay of white and yellow roses and carnations with emerald green ribbons and peacock feathers. She wore a small floral headpiece and pearl drop earrings.

Kimberly Shephard and Stephanie Shephard, both of Belleville, acted as bridesmaids at the service. Both bridesmaids are cousins of the bride and wore gowns like that of the maid of honor.

Neil Antieu of Belleville, the brother of the groom, performed the duties of best man at the nuptials. Groomsmen included Dave Arquette of Detroit, a friend of the groom, Jonathon

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Antieu

Greca of Belleville, a nephew of the groom, Leslie Ferguson of Belleville, a brother of the bride and Randy Harris of Fairview, Mich. a brother of the groom.

Greta Greca, 2, the daughter of Dave and Janna Greca of Belleville and niece of the groom acted as the flowergirl for the couple. She wore a dress matching the bridal attendants and carried a basket of white and yellow carnations.

Scott Shephard, 4, the son of Brian and Nancy Shephard of Belleville, and a cousin of the bride, was the ceremonial ringbearer at the wedding.

Following their marriage vows, the couple was feted at a reception at the First United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall in Belleville. They honeymooned in Florida for a week before returning to make their home in Belleville.

The bride is the daughter of Roger and Diane Ferguson of Belleville. She is a graduate of Belleville High School and earned an associates degree in computer science at Cleary College. She is presently attending Washtenaw Community College and is employed at Michigan Bell in Wayne.

The groom is the son of Jenette Antieu of Belleville. He, too, is a graduate of Belleville High School and is presently employed with the Van Buren Public Schools.

MACDONALD-LONG

Tori L. MacDonald of Ann Arbor became the bride of George E. Long III Feb. 28, 1992

The bride is the daughter of Nancy Rosentreter of Frankenmuth, Mich. The groom's parents are George E. Long, Jr. of Wayne and Dorothy Long of Romulus.

The Rev. John L. Jenkins officiated at the ceremony. The couple plans a reception in June and will cruise to the Bahamas for their honeymoon. They will make their home in Ann Arbor.

Rockets shake winter blues, snap 2-game losing streak, 3-2

By TERRY LYNCH
ANP Special Writer

Westland John Glenn managed to shake the winter blues and warmed up to the 1992 baseball campaign with their first victory last week. Coach Norm Hoenes' Rockets pulled out a moral-boosting 3-2 victory over Farmington. The victory snapped a two-game losing streak for the perennial Western Lakes Conference powerhouse, which got off to a not so typical slow start.

Senior hurler John Ward survived a shaky defense, twirled a two-hitter and notched seven strikeouts en route to his first win. He went the distance for Glenn, helping his own cause with a couple of hits and a run batted in. However, it was Gary Chmiel's two-run double that made the difference in this game. Chmiel came through with a key hit as he hammered the two-bagger in the sixth inning off of losing pitcher Michael Shelp. Two Rocket errors opened the door to the two Raider

"I believe that it's safe to say that we have the pitching staff this year to become a very competitive club."

- Norm Hoenes

runs. Brian Wilson scored both of them for the losers. Defense- the lack of it - remains a concern for the veteran Glenn coach, who launched his 27th season in a Glenn uniform.

games." The weather has not cooperated. Cold and torrential rains have limited local and most area teams' ability to get out on the fields. However, spring-like weather moved in earlier this week and temperatures are expected to remain in the 70s, allowing teams to make up for lost time. The Rockets opened the season on April 6 against league opponent Walled Lake Central. Would you believe Glenn blew a six-run lead in this one? Out in front 9-3 as the game reached the fifth, the proverbial ceiling fell in on the Westlanders as their defense crumbled. Hoenes went with reliever Aaron Scheffer to bring home the bacon in the opener. But Central exploded for eight runs with the help of the porous Rocket defense and eventually burned the Rockets, 11-9. Apparently the Rockets didn't want it bad enough, and who can blame Central for snatching the decision out of their hands.

The adage about trying after failing paid off for the Westland John Glenn bowling team. The Rockets cashed in on superlative performances to capture their first unofficial Class A state bowling title. State champs Glenn bowlers sweep 2 titles Maybe the latest Michigan High School Bowling Championship will convince the Michigan High School Athletic Association that it's time to recognize bowling as an official sport. Glenn coaches Jacquie Norton and Bob Lusk believe so. "I hope this fourth tournament will convince the (MHSSA) officials that it's time for the state to sanction varsity bowling," Norton said. "There are no reasons in my opinion not to." Although the state has not officially sanctioned bowling and given it the status of other varsity sports, and unofficial state tournament and championships are conducted in both the boys and girls' division. For the first time in the four-year history, Glenn emerged with not one but two state titles.

"We're very proud of the girls and boys who won these titles," Norton stressed. "They have worked hard to reach the top." Glenn's girls have been the proverbial bridesmaids in the past, finishing second a year ago because members of the team had car trouble and the Rockets didn't field a complete lineup, Norton pointed out. This year the Westlanders were ready. The Westlanders crushed Sterling Heights Stevenson by 117 pins, 1,988-1,869 to capture the enviable crown. The all-senior girls' team, who have been competing since their sophomore year, vowed to win the crown after missing out on the honor two consecutive years. The girls managed to reach the top of the pack thanks to Nyla Kluska, who rolled a 565

Beating the defending state champ by 140 points, Westland John Glenn's boys team also emerged with the state bowling title thanks to the performances of John Randell (above, from left), Nathan Scire, Jason Salinque, Pat Coshatt and Chris Kierkey. It was the Rockets' first-ever state title in the sport that is awaiting official acceptance as a varsity sport by the Michigan High School Athletic Association. ANP photo by Larry Divizio

Lynn gets Vikings off to record-setting start

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Charnell Lynn, one of the finest young track talents in the state this year, has the Inkster Vikings off and running. The 14-year-old freshman, who has set a string of sprint records, recently captured a pair of gold medals at the University of Toledo Invitational. Twenty-six teams participated in the competitions. Battling a strong wind, Lynn covered the 100-meter dash in the winning time of 12.7. She later returned to the field for the 200-meters and turned in a 26.3 for her second gold-medal winning performance. The Inkster coaching staff considers Lynn as one of the finest sprinters ever to compete for the high school. The Vikings also came away from Toledo with a sixth-place medal for their performance in the 400-meter speed relay. The Viking lineup was made up of Faith Henderson, Lynn, Tamara Murray and LaCrecia Tyus, who were clocked in 52.4. The Inkster men's 400-meter team also was a medal-winner. Greg Prewitt, Mando Perdue, Kemoni Bozman and Marcos Harris combined their efforts to finish fifth. The four-some carded a 45.1. Inkster will join a host of area local and area track and field teams at Belleville High on Saturday to compete in the 1992 Tiger Relays (See Related Story). The Vikings will run up against some of the best Class A teams and athletes in the state and will have an opportunity to test their strengths.

Salem favored Belleville to host Tiger Relays

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Plymouth Salem, the defending champ, will be the team to catch at the 1992 Tiger Relays. But the champ, and most of the other teams, may bring makeshift lineups to Belleville on Saturday for the annual competitions. Some of the athletes have taken off to countries unknown for the holidays. "This is the first time that the Easter Holiday and school vacations have coincided with the relays," said Belleville coach Dave Medley, who is the host for the 14-event affair. "Most of us have lost some of our kids to vacations. So, I really can't say what they will bring here on Saturday." Compounding the problem, the weather has been terrible. "With all this cold weather and the constant rains, I don't think we're going to see many record-setting performances," Medley added. Joining Belleville and Salem in the hunt for the gold will be teams representing Saline, Ypsilanti Lincoln, Livonia Churchill, Inkster, Plymouth-Canton, Dearborn Heights Ann Arbor, Garden City and Wyandotte. The athletes will be competing in 11 relay and three individual events: the 100-meters, high hurdles, and the 1,600 meter run. There will be a men's and women's division.

Field events are scheduled to get underway at 9:30 a.m., while the running events will begin at 10. In the meantime, Belleville launched the 1992 dual meet season against Wolverine 'A' Conference rivals. The Tigers had little trouble beating the two downriver representatives in the league - Lincoln Park and Wyandotte - but must beat nemesis, Monroe, if they have designs on the 1992 crown. Monroe has won the conference title for the last two years. "Monroe appears to be the one to beat again this year," Medley commented. "They will be tough." However, the Belleville coach didn't rule out Wayne Memorial, which was handcuffed last year to a Pay to Play policy. That policy has since been lifted. Taxpayers in the Wayne-Westland schools last June approved a millage increase that provided the schools with the money to restore all of the programs cut in a money-saving move. "Wayne is a factor because it has a lot of good athletes," Medley added. "And getting rid of the Pay to Play definitely will help them. Also, look for Fordson to be improved." And what about the Tigers, coach? "We hope to be involved," Medley smiled. Folks, that could mean the Tigers are back.

Most Valuable Ex-Tiger star shines at Wayne

Former Belleville High softball ace Christy Garrett continues to gather accolades on the collegiate diamonds. Garrett, who helped coach Peggy Curtis and the Tigers at Belleville High School win coveted Class A state titles while in high school, is a junior first baseman on the Wayne State University squad this season. Recently, the Belleville slugger was named the Most Valuable Player of the Tartar Invitational after the championship. The Tartars went 5-1 in the invitational but bowed to a defense-minded Siena Heights in the championship game, 2-0. Garrett automatically was selected to the All-Tartar Invitational Team with her selection as MVP. Garrett knocked in a team-high four RBIs in the invitational, including the game-tying run against Ferris State in the bottom of the seventh inning that forced the game into extra innings. The Tartars eventually won 3-2 to advance to the semifinals. Garrett also had a two-run homer in the Wayne State 4-1 victory over Siena Heights, and finished the game against the tournament-winning Saints by going three-for-four with three RBIs. Garrett's homer was the first of the season. It boosted her HR total to 14, and she is now the all-time leading WSU home run hitter. For the young season, Garrett is batting a hefty .305 in 59 appearances at the plate. She also has collected 18 hits and knocked in a 15 runs.

Christy Garrett

National champs

The Vardar III soccer team recently captured the 1992 under 14 National Indoor Soccer Championship. It is a repeat, of sorts, because same but younger Vardar won the title in the 12 and under category in 1990. In addition to the team championship, the champs also produced the MVP of the series. He's goalkeeper Todd Smith. Coached by Morris Lupenec, the national champs' lineup included: Tim Castillo, Chris Charboneau, Ty Fowler, Marko Jovanovic, Tony Moucoulis, Sammy Piraine, Craig Przygoda, John Schack, Scott Sersen, Todd Smith, Jeremy Stillings, Todd Stonestreet, Jeff Tomlinson, Robert Vega, Andre Ware, Neil Williams, Steve Williford, and Ryan Wells. Local karate teams set sights on state championships

With state competition behind them, local and area karate teams prepare to give battle in the national competition.

The 18th annual United States Tae Kwon Do championships will be staged May 28 through May 30 in Hampton, Va. while the junior members will compete at the 12th U.S. Junior Olympics beginning July 2 in Orlando, Fla.

Ronald Rose, a vice-president for the U.S. Tae Kwon Do Union for Michigan who makes his headquarters in Wayne, and head coach Michael Gagne, third degree black belt, and an Olympic gold medalist, are preparing the team for competition.

The local clubs recently participated in the state tournament staged in Ann Arbor. That meet was a qualifying round for the nationals.

In the meantime, the "Kicks" Tae Kwon Do Studio in Wayne hosted a seminar for referees and more than 60 masters, instructors and Black Belts from across the state gathered in Wayne for an update on rules and regulations regarding the sport.

Grand Master Koang Woong Kim, chairman of the national committee, conducted the local seminar, while Rose, owner of the KICKS Tae Kwon So studio in Wayne, served as host. Co-host was Master Wong Kil, international referee from Brighton.

Master Tom Ahlijian, a student of senior master Rose, was upgraded to national level referee.

Those wishing information about the KICKS Tae Kwon Do in the Wayne area may contact Master Chris Rose at 728-3027.

series; Jenni Walaszek (506), Holli Parris (504), Kery Byberg and Christie Meikle.

The Rocket boys' team duplicated the feat by turning back DeLaSalle 2,506-2,366. Earning state titles are Nate Scire, Jason Salingue, Pat Coshatt, Chris Kirkey and John Randall.

Scire also had an incredible 726 series, while Salingue exploded for three over-600 games (656-684-646). Kirkey also chipped in a 663-game.

Lusk, who has coached varsity football at the high school, commended team members for their accomplishment.

Inkster to conduct baseball clinics

Baseball will be the name of the game this summer for the a lot of new --and old-- kids on the block.

And the Inkster Parents and Children Together (IPACT) will be conducting baseball clinics Saturday so that children can learn or brush up on baseball rules and improve their playing skills.

The clinics are open to potential ball players, ages 5 through 12 years old: Midgets (9-12) and T-Ball (5-8), who are asked to report at noon. The clinics will end at 5 p.m.

For further information, contact Nate Bishop at 729-1239.

Also, the Inkster Parks and Recreation is preparing for the summer softball leagues and is seeking teams for league competition.

An organizational meeting for an Inkster adult co-ed softball league will be conducted 6 p.m. April 30 at the Inkster Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road. Competition is slated to begin May 24 on various diamonds in the city.

The Co-Ed Adult softball league registration fee is $175, and there is a May 22 deadline to register.

Rockets

Also, the Rockets had a shot at Plymouth-Salem, the defending Class A state champ, and let the champ slip the noose in extra innings.

Salem grabbed a 3-0 lead in the second innings, but the Rockets battled back with two in the sixth and added the equalizer in the seventh. However, in the eighth, with two-away, Ed Gundry singled, then stole second and Jeff Hopson sliced a single that drove in Gundry with the winning run.

Scheffer turned in an exceptional game, striking out 12 Salem batters and digesting his first loss. Dan Hutcherson started for Salem and was removed in favor of Jim Thomas, who got the decision in relief.

NOT the Problem

Here's how to cure slow drains forever. Professional plumbers know the real problem is not in the U-shaped trap. It is in the pipes behind the wall and underground-- the other 99% of your plumbing system.

It starts with a deposit of grease or soap film. The same film that leaves a ring around your tub or sink. In time daily deposits form a black, smelly layer of gunk. As the gunk gets thicker your drains run slower and slower.

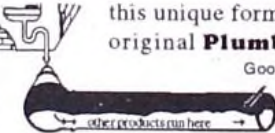

Now, without calling a costly roofer service, you can remove this gunk with Plumb Clean.

Amazing Plumb Clean contains safe, natural bacteria. As they multiply they move from the trap to the sewer or septic. Since they use the gunk for food they literally eat your pipes clean.

Revolutionary Plumb Clean is so simple and safe even a child can use it!

Only original Plumb Clean has this unique formula. Only original Plumb Clean Gook makes this promise: Use Plumb Clean as directed for 30 days and we guarantee your drains will run like new or your money back!

So cure the slows. Get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean today.

Senior citizens' ideas solicited at hearing

Anyone who may have ideas concerning how the state should use allocated funds for the aging, is invited to attend a public hearing.

The Michigan Commission and Office of Services to the Aging announced yesterday that an informational seminar will be conducted at 10 a.m. May 11 at the Midway Motor Inn in Lansing to discuss a recently released study commissioned by the state Office on Aging and to seek input from citizens on future projects.

The session will be conducted by the staff of the Center for Redevelopment of Industrialized States (CRIS) through Michigan State University, the grantee agency which received funding from Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan.

The purpose for the public hearing is to review the intrastate funding formula by which all state and federal funding for aging programs in Michigan is distributed.

Copies of the Center's recommendations for formula revision will be available to interested parties at the seminar, organizers said. At the conclusion of the seminar, testimony will be solicited from all persons interested in speaking.

Public comment will also be accepted at two proposed State Plans on Aging public hearings that are planned by the State Commission on Aging in June.

One of the hearings is scheduled for 10 a.m. June 18 at the State Fairgrounds in Detroit; the second hearings will be conducted 10 a.m. June 19 at the Holiday Inn in Grayling.

Persons unable to provide comment at any of the public forums are encouraged to send their suggestions to: Mary Lindemann, C/O OSA, P.O. Box 30026, Lansing, Mich. 48909. The cutoff date for those suggestions are June 19.

Pending the adoption of the proposed formula by the State Commission on Services to the Aging at a July 17 meeting, the formula will be applied to grantee agencies of the state Office on Aging, effective Oct. 1, 1992.

Perot supporter collects signatures locally

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A second H. Ross Perot for President signature-collection caper was found last week.

Janice Tourangeau, a Belleville housewife and mother, reported she has been collecting signatures near the Wayne-Westland Federal Credit Union at 34646 Sims Road in Wayne, April 11, when two officials from the credit union asked her to cease her efforts.

Tourangeau armed only with a clipboard to gather signatures and a sign stating "Put Ross Perot on the ballot" asked why she should leave the grassy spot between the sidewalk and roadway located near the credit union.

She was told, "We don't want it to appear that the credit union endorses your effort."

Tourangeau, who is a member of the credit union, said she felt offended and checked with local police authorities and learned that she was well within her rights to stand there.

She returned to the credit union office Thursday and spoke with Assistant Manager Debra Sheloski.

When Tourangeau demanded an apology, Sheloski explained, "We have a blanket policy of no solicitations on credit union property and maybe the persons involved over reacted because of that."

Sheloski said the "no solicitation policy" obviously was at the center of the confusion. "I feel bad this incident happened and personally apologize on behalf of the credit union," she said.

Sheloski said she would check with her superior and offer a statement to the press Friday.

"The credit union has a major obligation for security both inside and outside its offices and I wouldn't have it any other way, said Thelma Wright, chief executive officer for the credit union.

"Our personnel didn't know what she (Tourangeau) was up to as she didn't communicate with us prior to starting her efforts. It would have been much more considerate if she had," Wright said.

Wright concluded, "Proper communication would have placed us both in a win-win situation."

Two weeks ago, Donna Collins another Perot supporter, faced a similar problem, when she was collecting signatures on the Belleville Post Office property. In thatcase, she researched the rules and found she needed to move to a right-of-way off Post Office property.

In Tourangeau's case, she was already in the right-of-way.

Not Only Does It Carry A Lot, It Carries It A Lot Further.

No wonder it's a compact pickup. We squeeze it for 27 m.p.g. on the highway.* It can also carry 1563 pounds maximum payload (though, of course, your mileage with a loaded truck will vary). Its standard 2.5L engine is a model of powerful efficiency, making Sonoma® the compact with the big impact.

*EPA estimated m.p.g. 23 city, 27 highway, 2.5L 4-cylinder engine with manual transmission.
